Sri Satyananda Maharshi
(1912-1996)

Sadguru Sri Satyananda, one of the foremost disciples of Sri Ramana Maharshi, was born on 16 February, 1912. He received the divine blessings of Sri Brahmananda Tirtha. Right from childhood, he had shown remarkable spiritual fervour. After a brief period as a house-holder, he took the sanyas in 1934. He engaged himself in ceaseless spiritual activities propagating the wisdom of ancient Indian texts like the Sri Bhagawad Gita throughout AP and neighbouring States. He had set up the Ashram in 1934 with the approval of Bhagawan Sri Ramana, he had set up the Ashram at Inamadugu. The Maharshi did great penance for 10 years from 1934 and had Self-Realisation.

IV

He had undertaken several action - oriented programs for the uplift of society. He started the spiritual magazine "Sri Viswa Mimamsa" in Telugu in 1947. It is still being published regularly. Apart from writing a number of spiritual works, he engaged himself in an indefatigable campaign of delivering hundreds of discourses on Bhagawad Gita. Luckily his books as well as some of his speeches were preserved for posterity. He advocated harmony among all people and emphasized the significance of service to society in attainment of Liberation.

The fact that his devotees from all corners of A.P. and other states arduously follow his teachings to this day is a tribute to the eternal wisdom and greatness of Sri Archarya as an unparalleled spiritual master. 2011-12 was being celebrated as the Centenary year of the Maharshi.

WISDOM

Sri Satyananda Maharshi

FOREWORD

As a part of Centenary celebrations of Satguru Bhagavan Shri Satyananda Maharshi, it was felt that a small book containing the divine utterances of Maharshi should be published in English for the benefit of all people. This was considered useful for those who do not know Telugu.

Shri Bhagawan Satyananda Maharshi is one of the foremost spiritual leaders of the country in the last century. The rigorous discipline and penance he had undergone, the ceaseless efforts made by him for propagation of the divine message and the service activities undertaken by him for the upliftment of society are truly monumental. A sage renowned for his simplicity, Shri Maharshi showered love and compassion on all without distinction. His own personal example in meditation and other devotional practices have inspired thousands of people across the state and the country for leading their lives in the spiritual path. Bhagavan Shri Satyananda Maharshi reached the highest level of self-realization. Like Prahlada, the Maharshi searched for Atman in the body, found it and worshipped It. One of the closest followers of Shri Ramana Maharshi, he believed in application of knowledge in the real life for Liberation. Shri Maharshi was always immersed in Absolute Joy and was a towering source of strength in ups and downs of life for everyone who followed him.

From out of the hundreds of speeches given by Shri Maharshi from 1973 to 1980, we have picked up a few gems of thoughts and published them in the form of a small book in Telugu under the title “VIGNANA SOUDHA SOPANAMULU” in the year 2001. Thereafter, English translations of the same are being published in monthly installments in our Asramam’s monthly magazine “SHRI VISWAMIMAMSA”. Shri S. Vasudeva Rao, IPS who is one of the ardent devotees of Shri Maharshi has done the translation work.

It is hoped that this new compilation of 1100 instructions of Shri Maharshi, would serve as a source of inspiration for all devotees.

PREFACE

Acharya Shri Brahmananda Theertha Swamy and Acharya Shri Srihari Theertha Swamy have always been of great inspiration to me in imbibing the spirit of Satguru Shri Bhagawan Satyananda Maharshi's instructions and applying the same in my own life. Though endowed with relatively modest resources, the work being done by Shri Satyananda Ashramam in propagation of the teachings of the great Guru in every nook and corner of the world is stupendous. The faithfulness and sincerity of purpose shown by the two Acharyas in adhering to the path shown by the Master are indeed awe-inspiring. At a time when people forget such things within a short period of shedding of mortal coil by great saints, this assumes significance. The vitality and the eternal relevance of each word of the Master are the principal causes for sustaining the present work being done by the devotees.

I consider it a great privilege to have been asked to do the translation of Shri Maharshi's instructions into English. The manner in which the same has been received by readers of "SHRI VISWAMIMAMSA" every month probably shows that it passes the muster. These quotations have tremendous substance in each of them. Though each sentence is brief, it contains tons of spiritual wisdom for practical application. Some of them are truly spiritual bombs that can shake you out of stupor and show you the reality. It is up to each one of us as to how much benefit we take of the same by consistent application and deep reflection. I Thank Sri P. Sri Hari, Dy. Manager, IT Dept, DCI, Visakhapatnam for the assistance given by him in this work.

SREE SATYANANDA MAHARSHI

Bhagawan Sree Satyananda Maharshi was born on 16th February, 1912 at Bhuvangiri Town, now in Andhra Pradesh. His father's name is Sree Vemuri Chidambara Sastry and his mother's name is Subbalakshmi Devi. Sree Maharshi was named after Satyanarayana by his parents. Since his childhood he had been struggling hard for God realization. While reading in educational institutions; he was spending a lot of time in studying spiritual scriptures and books. him in his spiritual life. On 5th February, 1932 Sri Satyanarayana had the Darshan of Bhagawan Sree Ramana Maharshi, the Supreme among those who realized. He having received the eternal blessings of Bhagawan Ramana Maharshi of Arunachalam (Tiruvannamalai) got rid of all the doubts he had in the spiritual way of life, and began very great penance. Being ordered by Bhagawan Sri Ramana, he returned home, earned his livelihood in the right way, maintained his family and also continued the spiritual Yoga.

XIV

In 1933 his wife Smt. Padmavathi Devi had illness and the soul left her body while contemplating on her husband who was physically, spiritually her great guru and devotionally her God.

XV

Afterwards in 1934, October 17th, Vijaya Dasimi Day he took up 'Sanyasa Ashramam' leaving Grihastashramam and was known as Satyananda Teertha Swamy. Since then he had done intense penance besides observing total silence. On 3rd December 1934 he established a holy Ashramam named Sri Satyananda Asramam at Inamadugu Village, Nellore Dt. Andhra Pradesh. There for ten years with great self devotion he had done an unbroken penance and had attained complete Yoga Siddhi i.e., spiritual realization, on 27th September 1944 and since then he had been called as Satyananda Teerdha Avadhuta by one and all. Now and then he visited

XVI

Sree Ramana Ashramam. On 19-2-1937 Sree Ramana Jayanti was greatly celebrated at a separate mandiram constructed at his Ashramam in the name of Bhagawan Sree Ramana Maharshi. By the great power of Sri Satyananda's penance and his spirituality Sri Satyananda Ashramam has been improving day by day and attracting lots of people who have spiritual bent of mind. With its aesthetic atmosphere with beautiful and valuable buildings such as Sree Viswa Vijnana Vihar, Sree Anna Poorna Bhawan, Sree Tarakeswara Mandir, Sree Maharshi Grandhalayam (LIBRARY), Meditation hall, Santi Kuteer, Sree Venkamamba Samadhi, Sree

XVII

Satyananda Vihar, Sree Gowri Sankar Mandir, Brahmachari Kutirs etc. Sree Satyananda Avadhuta started a spiritual monthly magazine on 1st November 1947 and has been doing spiritual propaganda through it since then. Besides he has established great institutions to promote spiritual and material knowledge in the people such as summer school, library, temple etc. Although he reached the goal of human birth Sree Avadhuta swamy led a simple life. He saw God in all beings and helped them. He never wasted even a single minute and spent his time in serving the poor and the needy, in writing books, in writing essays and articles to the magazines, in correcting proofs etc. He believed that there is no enmity between Jnanam and Karma. To him to work hard and to do manual labour is no disgrace. To water the plants in the Ashram, to cut vegetables, to cook food etc. are some activities in which he also took part. Cleaning of the buildings was done under his personal supervision. Nourishing plants, digging channels, sowing seeds were done very interestingly by him. He served food to visitors to the asramam with his own hands, helped the poor and disabled with divine attitude. For him service to humanity was service to God. Sree Swamiji worked for three hours in the morning in the ashramam garden and earned his bread as any normal man does and led a self contented life. He preached everybody "to kick away laziness and to work hard". He accepted invitations not only from Andhra Pradesh but also from Orissa, Bengal, Bihar, Mumbai and went there to spread his spiritual messages. He had been doing a lot of propaganda to develop Karma, Bhakti, Yoga and Gnana among people. On 1st December 1951 Sri Maharshi installed Sree Tharakeswara Mahalingam in Sree Ramana Mandiram. He established Satyananda Samajams, Bhakta Mandalis in Bombay, Kharagpur, Mumbai, Kisan Nagar etc., Having seen Sree Swamiji's Spiritual power, complete wisdom grandeur, the people of Mumbai and the spiritual Institutions there gave him title such as "BHAGAWAN" and "Maharshi" and greatly honoured and respected him. Those who want inner peace may visit Sree Satyananda Asramam and have the Darshana of Sri Satyananda Maharshi's adhistana mandiram (Maha samadhi Place) and spend some time in meditation.

Sri Maharshi had been propagating the Gita throughout his life. He gave discourses on the gita with great dedication and enthusiasm and elaborately so as to be understood by the common man also. His lectures have been tape recorded by his disciples in 1964 and are now embedded in MP3 DVD running for 28 hours for the benifite of the jignasus (Seekers of the truth). These are available in Sri Satyananda Ashramam.

Sri Maharshi had written voluminous commentary on Srimadh Bhagavath Gita named "Srimadh Bhagavath Gitamritha Tharangini" which is regarded as one of the greatest Adhyathmic books of recent times. This great book has been published three times and still there is great demand from the public.

Sri Maharshi, thus not only was a mahagnani (realised soul) but also a karmayogi to the core who put his every preaching in action and lived a life of a true sthithapragna. It was because of such practical living he was loved and worshiped by his disciples and honoured by all those who knew him.

Sri Maharshi, lived for 84 years and left his mortal body on 16-10-1996 (Asveeyuja Suddha Chathurdhi) to become one with paramathma (the almighty). Sri Maharshi's graceful blessings are with all of us forever.

SREE SATYANANDA ASHRAMAM

Sree Satyanandashramam was established by Sree Satyananda Maharshi to the east of Inamadugu Village, Nellore Dt. (A.P.) in the year 1934. The Ashramam with its spiritual atmosphere has natural beauty with so many magnificent buildings and Kuteers. It is attracting a great number of Bhaktas from all parts of India.

There are people who come exclusively to visit the Ashramam and there are others who come here on their way to Tirupathi. You can come and visit Ashramam; spend some time and be happy and peaceful.

The Route to reach the Ashramam

Get down in Nellore Railway Station which is in between Vijayawada and Madras. Go to Bus Stand which is very near the station. Catch a bus to Inamadugu and reach the Ashramam which is just seven kilometers from Nellore. RTC and city buses are also plying to this place. The Aasramam is to the East of Inamadugu village.

- 192. You can learn a lot from animals, birds and even stones.
- 193. Be sober and dignified like a lion.
- 194. Learn from birds that you should not store things for tomorrow.
- 195. Like a granite stone, one should remain dispassionate and forgiving.

- 196. From the example of a tree, learn to be beneficial to others. Gain a higher vision of life from the example of a lamp.
- 197. From a flowing river, learn to do incessant work.
- 198. Learn from lion and tiger how to be brave in celibacy.
- 199. Harmonize your word, thought and deed.
- 200. When you offer devotion which is consistent in word, thought and deed, God is pleased.
- 201. Remember that without the Lord's order, not even an ant can bite you.

- 202. You must possess a brahmin's intellect, a warrior's valour, a merchant's patience and a labourer's physical strength.
- 203. A man of courage can achieve anything.
- 204. Offer the lotus of your heart to the Lord.
- 205. When you have Divine grace, why should you feel afraid of anyone? Even a strong man can do no harm to you.
- 206. Develop insight. See the Self.
- 207. Fight internal enemies of passion and anger with courage.
- 208. Once you achieve purity and

- stability, you will have vision of the Divine.
- 209. Never swerve from your aim.
- 210. Your aim and target should be gaining vision of the Lord.
- 211. Humility is the quality of a good man while boastfulness is the quality of a bad man.
- 212. Calmness is the quality of a mellowed man while pride is the characteristic of an arrogant man.
- 213. Leave lethargy aside and keep working incessantly.
- 214. Man of action is bound to emerge victorious one day.

- 215. Listen to opinions and objectives of all but reflect and do what you feel is right.
- 216. Speak in your mother tongue.
- 217. Never think that speaking in a foreign language is more respectable.
- 218. There is nothing wrong in learning a foreign language but ignoring one's mother tongue and speaking in another language always is wrong.
- 219. Ensure that your efforts are always constructive.
- 220. Action laced with knowledge gives full joy like a ripe fruit.

- 221. Respect all great people but have the highest reverence for your Guru.
- 222. Immediately on seeing a great man you may think he is greater than your Guru. This can be wrong and can cause your downfall.
- 223. Remove your bad qualities and cultivate good ones.
- 224. Everyone has some thing good in him. Absorb this. Never let your gaze remain on his bad qualities.
- 225. Before the body falls off, achieve your aim of Liberation.

- 226. Strive for immortality and never consider material things as everything.
- 227. Earn money in a just manner and use it for good causes.
- 228. It is better to drink gruel earned through right means rather than eat sumptuous food earned through immoral means.
- 229. You gain immortality by spiritual practice alone.
- 230. By constant practice, rise gradually from human to the spiritual state and from the spiritual to the state of Para Brahman.

- 231. Even if you can't attain divinity, protect your human qualities. This would confer some merit on you.
- 232. Compassion, calmness and devotion are three essential qualities of humanity.
- 233. Cruelty is a quality of animals.
- 234. Compassion is the chief attribute of man. Man without compassion is a demon.
- 235. This whole world is a university, and you study there as a student.
- 236. In a normal college, examinations are held now and then.
- 237. In the university of life, how-

- 610. The place where a great soul resides is the place of pilgrimage for you.
- 611. Serve the noble and orphaned with a feeling of the Divine.
- 612. Never serve with fear or a feeling of indifference.

- 613. Serve all living beings with energy, courage and sincerity.
- 614. Serve God through service to man.
- 615. Be brave in troubles and move forward with joy.
- 616. This big universe is the University that teaches you right.
- 617. Draw inspiration from the example of trees, rivers, mountains and planets in sky . Learn to work incessantly and move upwards.
- 618. Shed the ignorant and animal-like existence and choose a life of complete knowledge. Thereafter act accordingly.
- 619. Attachment and aversion are

- the main evils that throw you down in life.
- 620. Aspirants as well as others should strive to be clean both internally and externally. They should have good intentions and character. They should lead a life that is useful to others.
- 621. Sloth is an evil that obstructs one's growth both physically and spiritually.
- 622. Laziness arises from a sense of inertia.
- 623. A lazy man remains unqualified in physical and spiritual life. He gets caught in a spiral of poverty and sorrow and his life becomes a waste.

- 624. Drive away the devil of lethargy by chanting the mantra of enthusiasm and energy.
- 625. Criticize yourself and not others.
- 626. By criticizing others, your mind gets polluted and time is wasted.
- 627. Don't waste precious time in criticizing others but use it for doing meritorious deeds.
- 628. A deed done without a desire takes you closer to god.
- 629. Works done with desire takes you away from God.

- 630. A person who craves for respect and prestige is the lowest of all.
- 631. The one who postpones what can be done today for tomorrow is a low person.
- 632. Tomorrow is not in your hands. You do not know what happens the next moment.
- 633. God knows everything.
- 634. The person who does predetermined things in time and with a wholehearted approach, joy and enthusiasm is the best of all.
- 635. Six hours of sleep during night is enough.
- 636. A person who sleeps too much is lethargic.

- 637. After setting apart six hours for sleep, use with joy and energy the remaining 18 hours for meditation and public service.
- 638. As far as possible, do not depend on others.
- 639. Do your own work.
- 640. When you have strength, it is wrong for you to depend on others.
- 641. Despite possession of knowledge, you must do your deeds without expectation of reward. This prevents others from going astray.

- 642. Pain lies in attachment while pleasure lies in detachment.
- 643. A man should practice as per the instructions of his teacher and recognize Divinity within himself.
- 644. Never waste the precious human life in doing evil deeds.
- 645. Make the best use of precious human life by doing noble deeds.
- 646. An immoral life is like a building built without foundation. It is bound to collapse.
- 647. The wise persons who obtain knowledge after long penance are true teachers.

- 648. The true teachers are guides to humanity. They need to be remembered by us daily in the morning.
- 649. Those persons who realize the great powers of saintly persons and serve them sincerely obtain their grace.
- 650. Never abuse any person, it is like abusing yourself.
- 651. Do not abuse any one including birds and animals.
- 652. By abusing the living and non-living, you abuse the Divine that resides within them.
- 653. The heart that is full of hatred can not have place for Divine.

- 654. Hatred is the opposite of devotion. Poison and nectar, darkness and light are opposed to each.
- 655. Karma, Bhakti, Yoga and Jnana are four limbs of your body.
- 656. If you reject or disrespect any of the yogas it amounts to insulting spiritual knowledge as a whole.
- 657. As a body is formed of head, mind, legs and trunk, spirituality consists of knowledge, devotion, action and yoga. See it in integral terms.
- 658. Absence of knowledge, devotion, action or yoga renders one spiritually handicapped.

- 659. Discipline in physical world is important. It is even more so in spiritual life.

- 661. Conducting oneself in obedience to elders is in one's own interest.
- 662. Students kept in tight discipline may consider their teachers as hard-hearted. This is not true.
- 663. In spiritual education, the relation between the Guru and - discipline is not that of an ordinary one.

- 664. Know that the relationship between Guru and disciple is spiritual and free from any selfishness.
- 665. An errant student left unpunished and uncorrected can cause damage to the name of his Guru. He may commit the same misdeeds again and again and cause ruin to all.
- 666. If a lapse is not corrected in the beginning, it may become serious. It is like the tender plant growing into a mighty tree. It can cause obstruction and danger in one's spiritual path.

667. In olden days, the disciples used to obey the teachers with sincerity and follow their spiritual practices. That is why they achieved success in a short time.
668. The number of those who resist, reject and disobey their teachers, who arrogantly think they know everything and can teach their own teachers, who not only feel that the teachers must follow their orders but also express the same openly have been increasing every day. This is the reason why success has become a dream and no one becomes worthy.

669. Those who disobey their teachers seem to think they have done a great thing. This is absolutely wrong.
670. Noble and serene teachers laugh within themselves at the ignorance of disobedient disciples. They feel sad at the violation of injunctions contained in sacred texts by them and bringing ruin upon themselves. This only shows their boundless compassion for the misguided.
671. Sadly, now a days, we see many disciples who see the compassion of the teachers as their incompetence.

- 672. Some teachers trouble their students unnecessarily in the name of discipline without mercy. They put them into different trials and tribulations. This is wrong.
- 673. Teacher-disciple relation those days is a temporary and transient one.
- 674. Failure to see the sacred relation between the disciple and Guru is regrettable.

- 945. Courage in danger, indifference in wealth, skill in transaction, humility in scholarship are the hallmarks of a true householder.
- 946. Do any good work with purity of word, thought and deed.
- 947. Doing worship with mind being elsewhere, meditation with speech being elsewhere and doing helpful acts with body being elsewhere are wasteful. Is it possible to light a lamp with wick, oil and container being in three different places? Reflect on this.

- 948. The one who does not think of the past, who does not build castles in air about future and who uses the present moment for spiritual growth is liberated.
- 949. Speak softly. Speak with love. Speak helpfully. Speak the truth.
- 950. The one who tries, reaches the destination one day.
- 951. The one who lacks effort can't move even one step forward in the right path.

- 952. Efforts made with forbearance benefit you here and hereafter.
- 953. Good persons speak truth, help others, keep company with good persons, strive for Self-Knowledge, practice spiritual discipline as instructed by Teacher and lead a happy and pious life.
- 954. The whole world depends on righteousness. So, follow it and gain benefit for the Self.
- 955. Visiting noble persons is always beneficial.

- 956. He who is not elated when honoured and who is not sad when insulted is great.
- 957. Our thoughts should be lofty and pure. Purity of thinking leads to knowledge of the Self.
- 958. Good people remain consistent in word, thought and deed. They say what they think. They do what they say. Bad people, on the other hand, do not say what they think. They do not do what they say.
- 959. Desire is the root cause of all sorrows. The man without desires is rich. And the one with desires is poor.

- 960. Falsehood seems to triumph initially but it is Truth that ultimately wins.
- 961. There is no special merit in doing good for those who do good to you. The best thing is returning good for those who wrong you.
- 962. One should not listen to a bad man, though elder. On the other hand, one should respect and follow the advice of a good person, though younger.
- 963. There is no disease equal to lust. It is a great enemy.
- 964. There is no enemy equal to passion.
- 965. There is no fire equal to anger.

It is a great enemy.

966. There is no nectar equal to peace.
967. There is no wealth equal to knowledge.
968. There is no Joy equal to Liberation.
969. There is no sorrow equal to attachment.
970. Anger is the root cause of all evils.
971. There is no end for desires. If you satisfy one, more desires spring up immediately in its place.
972. Anger results in sorrow.

973. Those who are slaves to lust can't be servants of Lord Rama.
974. Selfishness makes one do anything.
975. A selfish man earns money by wrong means. As the body is temporary, he dies one day. His sons fritter away his hard earned money on luxuries and become paupers in no time.
976. The one who strives for the welfare of his family, is a common man. The one who strives for the welfare of the entire world is great.
977. Helping others is the greatest law.

- 978. The one who achieves health, scholarship, self restraint and good company, though poor is considered rich.
- 979. A chariot can't move with one wheel. Similarly, human effort alone is not sufficient for accomplishment of a work. God's Grace is needed for success. Both God's grace and human effort together are needed for victory.
- 980. Satisfaction is like nectar. The satisfied person can gain Eternal Bliss.
- 981. Speak little. Eat little. Transact little. This is the royal path to the city of Liberation.

- 982. Good conduct brings welfare to man.
- 983. The one who protects his character shines in the world.
- 984. Those who do good for others without expectation of rewards are noble.
- 985. Enmity with great people is like playing with fire.
- 986. Try for salvation only when you are healthy and young and when circumstances are favourable to you.
- 987. Detached life is blissful life.
- 988. The one who is content with knowledge of books can't see God.

- 989. Joy and sorrow, profit and loss, good and bad – whatever happens- experience the same with happiness. Joy and sorrow are the result of past mistakes.
- 990. Disease lies in luxuries.
- 991. Health and happiness lie in a simple life.
- 992. Worldly entanglements are more dangerous than poison. Poison kills only the person who drinks it but worldly things destroy one who even sees them.
- 993. Don't be satisfied with knowledge of sacred thoughts. Gain practical knowledge.

- 994. Mind is the cause of both bondage and liberation.
- 995. Impure heart causes attachment while pure heart gives you liberation.
- 996. Strive and gain devotion, knowledge and detachment. Become an accomplished person.
- 997. Life without worries is worthy.
- 998. The life of a man who is always worried is in vain.
- 999. The man who does not do penance can't be pious.
- 1000. Mind is one's relative. It is also one's enemy.
- 1001. Follow the instructions of Guru and sacred texts. Practise spiritual discipline.

- 1002. The one who wants Liberation must treat sound and other worldly things as poison and avoid them.
- 1003. The one who has knowledge that he is the Self (Atman) remains fearless and blissful.
- 1004. The one who has sincerity gains knowledge.
- 1005. The ever contented experiences the Joy of Self.
- 1006. Uplift yourself.
- 1007. Leave all burdens on God. Be relaxed and lead a happy life.

- 1008. The result of detachment is philosophical wisdom.
- 1009. The man with the Self Knowledge is worthy. He is respected by the world.
- 1010. The movements of great people add splendor and glory to this world.
- 1011. An unpious man can't have knowledge of the Self.
- 1012. The Divine Bliss is indescribable. It is beyond speech, imagination and sensory perceptions.
- 1013. Knowledge of the Divine demands respect for teacher-disciple tradition.

1014. Knowledge of the Divine remains eternally bright through traditional absorption of Brahman by disciple from his teacher in succession.
1015. Teachers light up the lamps called students who, in turn, do the same for their disciples. The lights of knowledge thus burn brilliantly.
1016. When you light a lamp from another, there is no loss to the latter. The lamps lit by sages burn bright to this day. The spiritual light never dims. It burns till the world lasts.
1017. Ignorance is removed by a vision of the Self. All doubts thereafter get dispelled. All

- actions get destroyed. The cycle of birth and death gets broken.
1018. All rivers merge into the sea. Similarly all spiritual practices flow into Self-Realisation.
1019. Getting a human birth is your fortune. Do not be satisfied with this. Seek the grace of a good teacher and obtain Divine instruction. Thereafter do spiritual practice in solitude and be worthy.
1020. The human birth is obtained by you for knowing the Divine. Once you know the Divine, you gain Eternal benefit.

Otherwise, you are put to great loss.

- 1021. Those who are spiritually focussed are immortal.
- 1022. Those who do not know the Divine are ignorant.
- 1023. This entire visible world is the form of "OM"
- 1024. Even if you utter it once. 'Omkaara' is a great mantra that takes you to the highest level of spirituality.
- 1025. 'Omkaara' is the symbol and name of Divine.
- 1026. The mantra that is to be meditated upon, praised and sung by all those intent on Liberation is 'Omkaara' only.

- 1027. The means of escape from the fear of worldly sorrows is 'Omkaara' only.
- 1028. The mantra that helps every living being reach Divine and attain the highest level of serenity is 'Omkaara' only.
- 1029. Merger of your mind with Pranava Mantra is immortality.
- 1030. Pranava Mantra is declared by sages as worship of the Divine.
- 1031. Oceans, rivers, mountains, trees, animals and birds sing Pranava Mantra while human beings sing worldly songs. What a surprise!

1032. Even as animals, birds, trees rivers and such other beings of lower order sing Pranava Mantra, men do not sing it and thus lose Bliss and Divine experience. What a tragedy is this!
1033. Sri Saraswathi, the Queen of knowledge plays Her divine harp and sings Pranava Mantra.
1034. Gods, sages and yogis continuously chant Pranava Mantra and remain ecstatic.
1035. Superior human beings also seem to realize the power and glory of Pranava Mantra and enjoy great bliss by singing it.

1036. The origin of four Vedas lies in 'Omkara' Mantra.
1037. The infinite nature of Divine established in Vedas is 'Omkara' only.
1038. All the fourteen worlds emerged out of Pranava Mantra.
1039. Before commencement as well as conclusion of study of Vedas, chanting, and meditation, recital of Pranava Mantra with faith and devotion is required to be done.
1040. If you don't recite Pranava Mantra before and after meditation, chanting or vedic study, you may forget the same. The whole practice then becomes a waste.

1041. The 'Omkara' Mantra is a vast and deep ocean. All other mantras are like rivers that merge into it.
1042. All denominations of Hindu religion – whether Advaita, Vishistadwaita, Dwaita, Shaiva, Vaishnava or Sakteya or Ganapatya – have Omkara as their life force. All of them accept 'Omkara' as the principal sign of the Divine and worship it accordingly.
1043. Chanting of Pranava, absorption of its inner meaning and enjoyment of the nectar of Divine Bliss are the means to Liberation.

1044. Never utter Pranava Mantra like a parrot. Drink its nectarine taste deeply. Immerse yourself in Divine feeling and continue the chant.
1045. The recital of the powerful mantra that drives out all deeply rooted impurities in you is Pranava Mantra.
1046. Chanting of 'Omkara' Mantra with deep faith and over a long time removes bad tendencies. It purifies your heart and helps you gain the Divine state.

- 1047. Chanting of Pranava with faith and determination gives you inner vision.
- 1048. Chanting of Pranava with sincerity stabilizes your mind and helps it focus on meditation.
- 1049. Worship of Pranava Mantra is a wonderful device that removes your physical and mental obstacles to absorption of Divine state in a short time.
- 1050. 'Omkaara' is the primal cause of origin, sustenance and dissolution of this universe.
- 1051. Meditation on 'Omkaara' destroys one's ignorance.
- 1052. When the trinity of Lord Brahma, Lord Vishnu and

- Lord Maheswara are incapable of fully explaining the nature and power of Omkaara, what should be said of others.?
- 1053. The body and mind of a person who recites Pranava Mantra get purified.
- 1054. O Aspirant ! Sing 'Omkaara' mantra in a sweet and resonant voice.
- 1055. For spiritual as well as material success, dedication is crucial.
- 1056. Dedication means complete absorption in one's work.
- 1057. Spiritual activities like giving presents, worship, singing, chanting, lighting of holy fire etc. should be done with complete devotion.

- 1058. Commitment is an invaluable wealth.
- 1059. Lack of commitment results in blame - worthy poverty.
- 1060. The main characteristic and aim of commitment is doing all activities whether material or spiritual with whole- hearted devotion.
- 1061. Dedication means unshakable faith in Teacher, Sacred Texts and God.
- 1062. When one 's mind absorbs the teacher's instructions with faith and concentration, it gets fully established in the Divine.

- 1063. Any offering, worship, singing, penance, recitation giving of presents or services is of no avail if it is done without faith and devotion.
- 1064. Serve teachers and other great persons with commitment. Gain thus their grace.
- 1065. Once one gains the grace of Teacher and other great persons, the task of obtaining knowledge of Divine which looks initially impossible becomes easy in no time.
- 1066. Only a devotee can qualify for spiritual discipline.

1067. Devotion and faith in teacher, sacred texts or God should develop day by day and not decline.
1068. A dedicated person though lacking in wealth or social support can achieve great things with his spiritual power.
1069. An atom of practice is greater than a mountain of theory.
1070. The belief that an impure, transient and sorrowful body can give one Eternal Purity and Bliss is ignorance.
1071. Lack of knowledge is known as ignorance.

1072. Self – Bliss is a divine ocean of nectar in unlimited depth.
1073. Liberation is not going to another world. Nor is it a fruit that falls from heaven. Destruction of ignorance in heart is Liberation.
1074. Without Teacher's grace, sacrifice of worldly things is impossible. Control of mind is difficult. Self-restraint is also not easy.
1075. The great man who knows the real nature of Self (Atman) has no passion or sorrow.
1076. The life of a man who does not make use of the opportunity of human birth for gaining knowledge of Supreme God but gets sad in being entangled in worldly enjoyments is a waste.

1077. The unfailing sign of desire for Liberation is detachment and a distaste for worldly life.
1078. Meditation has to be done by keeping head, neck and body in a straight position and by concentrating on the Divine.
1079. Knowledge of unity of Atman and Divinity gives one Eternal joy.
1080. The one who has the vision of Divine does not see the world as sorrowful. He sees the Divine in the physical world too.

1081. The one who obeys the injunctions of sacred texts and who does not do prohibited activities certainly gains Divine grace. The one who follows this path gains Self – Realization too.
1082. Acquire the qualities of courage, sacrifice, strength, calmness and compassion by sustained efforts.
1083. Never make friendship even by mistake with bad people who are steeped in worldly gains.

1084. The company of noble and good people helps you cultivate good qualities, purify your heart and qualify you for enjoyment of peace.
1085. One does not see God who is within himself but looks for Him in various places and sacred texts. It is a common experience that we some times forget the necklace worn by us and look for it everywhere else.
1086. Knowledge of the Self is attained only by deeds done without a sense of reward. History does not show there is any thing other than this.
1087. One must question oneself

- ‘Who am I?’ and realize that one is not body, senses or mind but Self (Atman). After knowing this, one must remain in that Absolute Bliss. This is called liberation.
1088. By continuous reflection on Self, one gains control of one’s mind.
1089. The one who treats insult as honour, loss as gain and defeat as victory is a great soul.
1090. Only those courageous persons who are stable in mind and endowed with detachment can see the subtle form of Divine.
1091. A man of wisdom, though poor remains contented. Even if he does not have assistants, he remains strong. Even if he does not eat food, he drinks the joy of Self Realisation and experiences satisfaction.

1092. By merely reading books about the taste of grapes, one does not gain joy of eating it and experiencing its sweetness. Similarly, one must gain knowledge of sacred texts, know the various theories, follow the instruction of Guru and get established in practice of spiritual discipline.

1093. The one who shows forbearance despite being strong and the one who remains calm and peaceful despite being young is called a great Yogi.

1094. There is no better law than practice of truthfulness. There is no greater sin than speaking falsehood.

1095. Like day and night, pleasure and pain follow one another. The devotee who accepts them as gifts of God can never be anxious about anything.

1096. Like trees that remain in sunlight but give shade to travellers, good people bear their sufferings but help others.

1097. On a careful examination, one finds there is no such thing as mind. Till this enquiry is done, mind dominates. Seek the Teacher's grace and continue to question yourself 'Who am I?'. In due course, you become aware of reality of 'Atman' in you. Remaining stable and undisturbed in such a state is called Self-Realisation. The great one who sees the Atman is truly liberated.

1098. Without planting seeds, no field can yield the crop. Similarly, without effort, no activity succeeds in this world.
1099. Wordly joys are like sparks of fire while Self-Bliss gained through one's experience is infinite. It is indestructible. Strive for such an unalloyed joy.

1100. Listening is better than reading, Grasping is better than listening. Applying is better than grasping.
